Firm Overview

StrategyPMO is a boutique consulting practice specializing in restoring execution discipline across complex enterprise environments through portfolio governance, transformation stabilization, and strategic program leadership.

The firm works directly with leadership teams navigating large transformation initiatives, enterprise modernization efforts, and cross-functional programs where execution coordination and governance clarity are critical to success.

Organizations engage StrategyPMO when strategic initiatives require experienced leadership to improve alignment, accountability, and execution reliability.

Founder

Christopher D. Gentry, PMP, is an enterprise strategy execution advisor with nearly twenty years of experience supporting senior leadership teams across complex technology and transformation initiatives.

His consulting and program leadership experience includes organizations such as Apple, PayPal, American Express, Deloitte, CVS Health, CSAA Insurance Group, and the Federal Reserve System.

Christopher has worked across industries including financial services, enterprise technology, healthcare, insurance, and government environments where governance discipline and execution coordination are essential to successful program delivery.
